Paoli, PA—The Elevator Group, an independent publishing company located in Paoli, Pennsylvania, scored big in the just announced National Best Books 2010 Awards, sponsored by USA Book News and open to all publishers and authors. The national press release about the awards is at www.usabooknews.com.

“I am so pleased that the work of our small, but growing, publishing company is again being recognized nationally and internationally,” said Sheilah Vance, The Elevator Group’s President & CEO, and author of several books. “I am especially pleased that two of our books from The Elevator Group Faith imprint were finalists in the Christian Inspirational category.”

The National Best Books 2010 Awards received are as follows:

- Winner, African American Studies
 - Mr. and Mrs. Grassroots: How Barack Obama, Two Bookstore Owners, and 300 Volunteers Did It, by John Presta (Jan. 2010)
- Finalist, Cookbook: General
 - Dining with the Dollar Diva: Divalicious Recipes with all Ingredients Costing $1 or Less, by Elizabeth J. Fisher (March 2010)
- Finalist, Religion: Christian Inspirational
 - Creativity for Christians: How to Tell Your Story and Stories of Overcoming from the Members of One Special Church, by Sheilah Vance with Reverend Felicia Howard (Sept. 2010)
 - Rejected for a Purpose: How God Uses Rejection to Help You Find and Fulfill Your Destiny, by O. J. Toks (Sept. 2010)
